Atmosphere Like Britain's Before D-Day

Big Operations are Hinted in Southeast Asia

MANILA, July 7.—Hints of a big new Allied campaign to come in the near future are in the air here, and the atmosphere in the South East Asia Command theatre of war is much like the feeling in Great Britain just before D-Day in Normandy.

Correspondents in Calcutta say that thousands of tons of armor and equipment are pouring into Asia, and veterans of the campaigns in Italy, Normandy, Holland, Belgium and Germany are appearing more and more

from CP, AP and BUP Dispatches

This news comes on the heels of a report from Australia a few days ago which said that the British War Office had asked for nearly three million ration packs to be delivered not later than the middle of August. The packs, it was stated, were to be used by landing forces and commando units. The Japanese High Command is also of the opinion that another big landing is in the offing. They fear an Allied offensive to recapture the great British naval base of Singapore, and are already evacuating all unnecessary civilians.

British naval task force has "cleared mines" southeast of Car Nicobar island on the northwest approach. Singapore, according to radio Tokyo, which also says that a task force of fourteen warships and two aircraft carriers supported the minewepers in their operations.

Softening-Up Air Blows Continuing To Batter Nippon

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches
AAF HEADQUARTERS, GUAM, July 7.—The Japanese homeland, virtually aflame from Tokyo to the Inland Sea this morning after 32 straight days of aerial bombardment, is "wide open for invasion" now, according to highly placed staff officers of this headquarters.

Last night's pre-sunsetting operations were the most successful yet as a huge sea fleet of more than 600 B-29 Superfortresses struck their heaviest blow of the Pacific war so far. Swinging along a 275-mile arc of central Honshu, the big bombers splattered 4,000 tons of demolition high explosive and incendiary bombs over five big Japanese war centres, and they left death and destruction in their wake.

Concentrations of smoke and flame spouting four miles into the night sky gave fiery proof that the flimsy target cities joined the death list of 27 other Japanese towns still raging out of control in parts of the battered cities after dark.

The raid capped an all-day series of attacks which began at 10:30 a.m. today in which American flyers had been over the sea for 10 days, and damaged 16 more Japanese cities, and destroyed 24,000 enemy planes in Kyushu.

Japanese radio said that the planning committee relative to the development of the city of Tokyo for reconstruction is being studied by the city council for ratification.

The town planning committee members and city engineers are at variance on many points, and they will likely form the basis of discussion when the plan is laid before city council.

ENGINEER COMMENTS
Commenting on the commission's report regarding the city of Tokyo, the major streets plan as originally proposed, A. W. McKelvey, city engineer, stated that 118 avenue from 106 to 121 streets and 107 street from Kiyomasa to 120 streets, were closed in connection with the development of the airport.

He submitted that the advantages of the development of the airport were more than offset by the disadvantages from the closing of these streets.

Part Income Tax May Be Forgiven

By CHESTER BLOOM
Edmonton Bulletin (Ottawa Bureau)
OTTAWA, July 7.—The Ottawa Journal published today a story today that taxes on the lower income brackets "may be forgiven" for part or all of next November and December.

Hon. J. L. Riley, minister of finance, could not be contacted at this time. At his office, an official was stated that this report was premature.

The Journal account recalls that Mr. Riley is on record prior to the election of the present government, in 1935, when he said that taxes for 1945 would be provided. The statement, however, was conditional.

According to the Journal story, the newspaper said to its informant that "forgiveness" of taxes for all or part of November and December would be the easiest way of making a reduction. The idea, he said, would be to create an even balance between taxes paid and for eight months at the rate of the remaining 1945 story today, "expected lower levels" by lowering of the basic principle.

Army Airports To Help Develop Civil Aviation

Airports established for military purposes will be used in the development of commercial aviation, it was learned Saturday by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Replying to a recent inquiry by the Edmonton group regarding the government's policy with reference to fields built during the war years, Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of reconstruction, said that the fields will be utilized for the development of commercial aviation "wherever the location is suitable for its location, lends itself to such use."

SURPLUS AIRPORTS
The minister further stated, "In accordance with this policy, all airports which are declared surplus to the requirements of the department of national defence for air, are turned over to the civil aviation branch of the reconstruction department. The civil aviation branch, in consultation with the Air Transport Board, will be responsible for determining whether or not an airport shall be retained for commercial flying."

"This statement of policy is very important to a great many towns in Alberta," the Chamber of Commerce official stated.

"Such places as Red Deer, The Winston, Penhold, Grande Prairie and all the ports along the north-west route, in addition to many points in the southern part of the province, have been wondering just how to become air ports, fields which have been established in their districts. Such action on the part of the government will also hasten the time when cities and towns will have a part in the control of civil aviation."

Borneo's Greatest Petroleum Port

Leapfrog Landing Gives Aussies Full Control of Balikpapan Bay

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches

HEADQUARTERS, July 7.—

The veteran Australian 7th Division today won complete control of Balikpapan Bay, Borneo's greatest oil port, with a surprise leapfrog landing on the west shore.

The Australians landed at Panajagan, three miles across the bay from Balikpapan, and secured the approaches to the fine harbor which used to be crisscrossed with tankers in the pre-war days.

The five-day invasion's first phase ended Thursday with a rapid-fire drive across the bay three miles northwest of Balikpapan which knocked out gun positions that might have harassed free use of Balikpapan's excellent port.

Forms Studied

Tokens Will Permit Purchase Of Small Amounts of Meat

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—Prices Board officials today were considering the form and value of meat ration tokens to be introduced with the reimposed meat rationing in about two months and which are designed to encourage economy in meat purchases.

The tokens will be a new departure in meat rationing under the revised control which will limit Canadians to 1 1/2 pounds of actual meat a week. They will permit smaller individual purchases than would be possible under the present rationing system expected to be similar to those used in 1943-44 meat rationing.

Officials said that the tokens would be issued in denominations of one-half pound to 1 1/2 pounds depending on the type of meat purchased.

Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, said that the tokens would be introduced to facilitate the purchase of small amounts of perishable meats. Officials said that the form of the tokens has not yet been worked out but examination would be made of the token system for meat purchases now used in the United States.

DIFFERENT COLORS
The United States tokens are about the size of a 10-cent piece of stiff cardboard or plastic. Distributed in red and blue, the different colors have different values in points.

A Canadian who does not wish to spend his entire weekly ration quota in one purchase will be able to buy a customer's worth or two savings by presenting tokens to his butcher. Each ration "token" is worth as many tokens. In no case will the tokens be used to purchase more than the 1 1/2 pounds of actual meat a week.

Under the Canadian system, tokens probably will be issued to retail meat dealers. A customer makes a small purchase and presents a token to the butcher, who then will return him "change" in the form of tokens.

Announce Plan Meat Rationing For Canadians

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—Don Gordon, Prices Board chairman, announced last night that the government will introduce a new meat rationing system in about two months.

Navy Seeks 39,000 Volunteers For Canada's Role in Pacific

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—Naval service headquarters is hopeful eventually to have 39,000 volunteers for the navy's part in the war in the Pacific. This would provide 13,500 for service afloat and 23,500 for reinforcements and service ashore.

However, in the meantime, it will be necessary to continue with non-volunteers particularly among the personnel ashore during the change-over period and to carry out the policy of demobilization on the basis of training, fitness and age.

Men with two years service will be kept on until after those of four years or more are discharged.

Non-volunteers also will be needed for many posts until volunteers can be trained to fill them, it was stated.

The announced government policy is that no man who did not volunteer for the Pacific war will be required to serve in it. When this announcement was made the Canadian cruiser Uganda already was in Pacific waters operating with the British fleet and its crew had volunteered for the duration but now had an opportunity to return to volunteer for the war in the Pacific.

500 DECLINE
It is understood that 500 of the crew declined to volunteer and they will eventually be replaced by volunteers probably sent from Canada. The Uganda has been in all Pacific operations to date. It is stated today that the ship will be matter for Admiral Bruce Fraser, commanding British naval operations in the Pacific, to decide whether to allow the Uganda to return to Canada to exchange the 500 or to have them sent out to the scene of operations by another ship, leaving the Uganda on the job.

The Canadian cruiser Ontario is to proceed from the United Kingdom to the Pacific theatre. It was reported here today that her crew now is 100 per cent volunteers. It was stated that some of the men did not get the 30-day leave they had coming to them but they understand this will pile up in their favor for later on. It is understood that the ship will be sent over from Canada to complete the crew.

Bosco broke loose, and in the ensuing seven months covered 2,300 miles to come back to his home at Knoxville, Tenn. The Flanigans had meanwhile moved to Parkville, where the footsore pup was gleefully greeted.

Reach Accord
On Proposals
Of Street Plan
Dealing with the complaint of the commission regarding the opening of a road through Clarke Street, Mr. Haddow reports that apart from the major plan for the development of industrial, residential and recreational areas in that district, and will serve also a very useful purpose for connecting the north-east extension to the city.

Commenting on the abandonment of the proposed diagonal road from 118 Avenue and 121 Street to the St. Albert highway at 126 Avenue and 127 Street, Mr. Haddow expressed the opinion that 118 Avenue and St. Albert trail quite adequately serve the purpose of the proposed cut-off.

FOUR-LANE PAVING
The proposal to widen 112 Avenue and extending to connect with 118 Avenue near 14 Street was abandoned. Mr. Haddow stated when construction of a four-lane paving on 112 Avenue was started, he pointed out that 112 Avenue can then be extended either north to 118 Avenue or south to the 14 Avenue extension, which makes the proposed diagonal cut-off to 118 Avenue unnecessary.

Mr. Haddow agreed with the contention of the town planning commission that all future changes in the plan should be submitted to the Town Planning Commission for consideration, and it approved by the commission thence to the council for amendments to the city by-law.

He concurred with the commission's recommendation that steps be taken at an early date to secure the right-of-way for widening the highway through private property owners' residences, and also the Jasper Highway from 142 to 147 Street.

In connection with the widening ducting center was swept by gigantic conflagrations, and one of her greatest oil refineries, blessed with a cloud "like a terrific tropical sunset," said, a returning pilot.

FOURTH IN SIX DAYS

The Superfort mission was the fourth in six days in which B-29s have dumped over 12,000 tons of bombs. In addition the Japanese homeland has been under continual assault from fighters and incendiary bombers, day and night in an all-around-the-clock aerial offensive.

Even before the announcement of the new raid, the U.S. fleet marine force's new commander, Lt. Gen. Hoy S. Giger, declared that the aerial softening-up already had accomplished its primary job. American troops, he said, can land in Japan "any time we want to."

Geiger brushed aside the Japanese claims and civilian "home guard" as no more than nuisances.

He indicated the possibility that Japan's big industrialists might force their military leaders to capitulate but he stressed that the United States has no intention of Japan if necessary.

ECHOED BY STILLWELL

His words were echoed on Okinawa by the veteran Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, who declared flatly that it would be a matter of time before the war would go on for a long time, however, and indicated that the crack Japanese Kwantung army in Manchuria might have been whittled down after the enemy homeland falls.

Last night's Superfort strike opened the possibility that when the giant bombers thundered in across the east coast of Honshu from their Marianas bases.

DIVIDE BOMB LOADS

Splitting into five task forces, the raiders divided their bomb loads among the Shimadzu, city 30 miles south of Osaka; Osaka, an aircraft manufacturing city 25 miles west of Osaka; Kobe, important railway and military traffic hub; and 60 miles west of Tokyo, and the seaport of Shimizu, 75 miles southwest of Tokyo.

CAREFUL STUDY
He said that the proposal made by the commission that in the event of the upper deck of the high level bridge being paved for traffic, consideration should be given to the use of the same for truck and inter-city traffic should be studied very carefully.

ONLY ONE LANE

He pointed out that the use of the upper deck of the high level bridge for general truck or bus traffic should be studied carefully because in case of a breakdown of any vehicles traffic would be held up because there is only one lane.

If any vehicles, other than the city buses, are allowed on the deck they should be limited to the number of vehicles per inter-urban and suburban buses.

Dealing with the commission's 4-6-0 foundation that parking spaces within close access to the center of the city be set aside, Mr. Haddow states that off-street parking is becoming more and more important in the plan that in accordance with modern practice as far as possible the properties causing the congestion of parking should consider providing off-street parking spaces in their business, large stores and other businesses.

Mr. Haddow, commenting on the plan to construct a traffic viaduct from the South Side diagonally from the Calgary highway to the north side, said that, while it was not possible to give the right-of-way to the highway study because of shortage of technical help, the project would be an exceedingly expensive one because of the bridges involved across Mill Creek and also across the river.

He said that the viaduct along 90 Street would not be desirable. He added that the proposal would cost several millions of dollars, and was of the opinion that the same purpose could be achieved more economically.

Official Says

Murder-Arson Charge Rarity

EDMONTON, July 7.—(CP)—A charge of murder following deaths in a fire is a rare development in a case where persons died as a result of alleged arson, Cecil Snyder, KC, Ontario deputy attorney-general, said last night in connection with the murder charge against Patrick Kelly, charged following the Red Lake hotel fire in which nine persons died.

Snyder was questioned in connection with the charge and he said he could recall only one similar case, the past 12 years in which was the Moose Temple hall fire in Hamilton May 24 last, when 10 persons died. Alfred Donnamore of Hamilton was convicted of manslaughter in the connection.

The precedent of a murder charge where fire caused by arson resulted in deaths was established in England in 1867, Mr. Snyder said, recalling a case where a fire destroyed a boy's home with the death of several children.

He and other German industrialists had backed the Nazi party from its infancy. Representatives of the Krupp firm already have applied to Allied military government officials for permission to resume production of peace-time goods in their factories.

"I've got an ace up my sleeve if the police attempt to stop me," said the 32-year-old riverman on the eve of his stunt. He will have two lawyers on hand to argue his case on the spot.

Parks Commission police said that so far no permit has been issued to Hill and none has been sought.

CBC Will Accent Current Affairs

TORONTO, July 7.—(CP)—Canadian Broadcasting Corporation programs starting July 16 will accent current international developments, the CBC said today in a new release, and in future they will be separated from news bulletins and programs.

Additional periods for discussion on current affairs are planned in which speakers will discuss the international developments from a variety of viewpoints. A CBC official said it is likely that commentators, like Elmore Phibbs of Vancouver and Milton Wood of Toronto, will participate in these discussions.

"During the war in Europe, commentators dealt primarily with war news," the release said. "Today, much of the international news is controversial in nature, and capable of interpretation from more than one viewpoint. In order to encourage full freedom of discussion, it is felt that a well-balanced panel of commentators on current affairs will be preferable to a single commentator associated with news programs as a daily feature."

Plans for the new being discussed for a new current affairs program on the CBC from mid-July to be broadcast in midweek. The release said the program likely will include those heard on the programs that are being dropped.

Chin A Expects Allied Invasion On Japanese Soil
CHUNGKING, July 7.—(AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said today he expects an Allied landing on Japanese soil.

In a "double service" message marking the anniversary of the beginning of the Japanese-Chinese war July 7, 1937, the general reiterated various pledges the Chinese would carry the main burden of the operations against the Japanese.

"Our first duty is to hasten the enemy's collapse and unconditional surrender," he said.

He warned that the nearer the end of the war approached, the more desperate Japan would become.

Edmonton's 150th Birthday

This year brings the 150th birthday of the community of Edmonton. Something colorful and interesting should be planned to celebrate the event.

It would have been appropriate and timely to have tied up the celebration of this notable birthday with the opening of the Exhibition this month. It is probably too late to make arrangements for this, now. But some sort of festivities should mark the memorable occasion before the year is out.

There is some disposition to deny the authenticity of Edmonton's claim to a 150th birthday. It has been maintained in some quarters that Edmonton's life did not begin until 1808 when the new city of Augustus was founded. But the town was established by the Hudson's Bay Company within the present site of the city.

This denial has no basis in historical fact because Edmonton's birth occurred with the building of the first Fort Edmonton in 1795 that the community of Edmonton had its beginning.

Moreover, the year 1795 has been referred to by all historical writers as the date of Edmonton's foundation. An excellent history of the city published by the Historical Society of Alberta in 1943 begins with the year 1795, "Edmonton's early history goes back to 1795."

In a descriptive booklet published in 1944 under the authority of the city of Edmonton and the Historical Society of Commerce, these words occur: "Edmonton is now 149 years old."

Officially, historians agree and actually this year marks Edmonton's 150th birthday.
It would be a gross impropriety if some suitable celebration were not planned to commemorate it.

China's War

Today, July 7, marks the 8th anniversary of China's war with the savage and predatory horde of Japan. Eight years ago the first cowardly assault was made upon Chinese soil.

It is a tremendous tribute to the giant spirit of China and to the spirit of pursuits and whose purposes are essentially peaceful should have maintained the struggle so long as to win.

It reveals an innate fineness and stability in the Chinese character that all might of Japan's war machine has not been able to destroy the industry and the resources of the Chinese. It shows that there is something in civilization which creates the power to resist overwhelming barbarism and that the Chinese possess all the weapons of modern science.

Chinese in Canada, we understand, are devoting this day to a celebration which welcomes additional Canadian participation in the Pacific theatre of war.

Canadians can do no better than to devote their thoughts and direct their gratitude on this occasion to the heroic efforts of the Chinese, whose continued resistance in the face of disaster have measurably lightened the burden of our war against Japan.

Silly Season Again

The surest sign that the world is getting back to normalcy, even with the war with Japan yet to be won, is the recurrence of the periodic silly season. The silly season is to be again shown in the announcement that a young man of more courage than sense proposes to negotiate the rapids of Niagara next Sunday in a barrel.

Perhaps this thrilling piece of news does not congeal the facts in the spirit quite so desperately as it chills the vital fluid of the East. But to those who have lived in proximity to this roaring massive of nature with its thunderous roar and its focal point for much human life (take that as you will), and who for successive generations have seen reckless opportunists walking on tight ropes, bobbing through the rapids and hurting the fatal weight contraptions, the news that still another fellow is to be thrown in the water indicates that happy days are here again.

One is entitled to wonder, of course, why a man should do this. The answer is this should not be performing his prodigies against the enemy.

It is, decidedly, an unfair question.
For there are two factors in the story which heralds normalcy. The first is courage and the second is foolishness. One is not complete without the other.

When a man does miraculous things usefully, it is war. When a man does miraculous things idly, it is peace.

We stand, therefore, at the beginning of a new era. And it is ushered in, not by the San Francisco agreements, not by peace treaties nor by those efforts which halt the course of war, but by the fact that next Sunday a young man will plunge into Niagara's rapids in a barrel.

Normality is not normality without its idleness.

Pensions for V's

It was a matter of press comment, not so many days ago, that public subscriptions were being opened in a certain Canadian city to provide a pension for the holder of the Victoria Cross should not starve to death.

It is difficult to imagine anything more disgraceful than that a man who had distinguished himself in his country's service should be forced to indirectly beg for his bread.

For possession of the Victoria Cross indicates a degree of valor and a quality of service that is not expected from nor given by ordinary men. No man can win the Victoria Cross by accident. It is awarded the proudest in the world, which only a man of rare and unusual qualities may hold.

It is only just and decent that the Victoria Cross should carry with it some sort of reasonable annuity which would guarantee the holder a comfortable living. And at least, an annuity or annual pension of not less than $2000 should accompany the award.

Although the services of these men cannot be calculated in money, it is worth while pointing out that such an annuity would amount to very little extra burden so far as the government is concerned.

Since Victoria Crosses are frequently awarded posthumously, it is seldom that there are more than twenty holders of the distinguished award in Canada. But even suppose there were fifty, which is highly unlikely? What would $100,000 a year mean to the government? It would be guaranteeing a subsistence to men who had saved Canada so well?

There would, of course, be some who would not desire this kind of thing. That need not worry the thrifty because income tax would drain any surplus back into the treasury.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

THE Edmonton Philharmonic Society operated its first complete season, recently concluded with a series of three concerts. Next season it is proposed to expand the program to include five, or perhaps six, concerts. That is a laudable ambition and the splendid showing made so far, not only gives bright promise for the future, but also shows that the society is a well-organized and co-operative organization, and encourages the hope that the Philharmonic will enjoy a long, prosperous and expansive life.

JOHN OLIVER

In May, representatives of 18 major symphony orchestras gathered at Philadelphia to report and discuss the results of the season. The orchestra was in the United States and the other was that of Toronto. A composite financial report of the 18 showed an operational deficit of $1,730,500, and it was agreed that existence of symphonic music in the cities represented depended largely on gifts, financial campaigns to raise funds, and bequests. In spite of the unprecedented attendance at concerts, the gross operating expenses for the 18 orchestras amounted to $5,500,000 and their gross earned income was $3,827,639. The deficit was made up entirely by collections from friends, the aggregate of such gifts being $1,738,500, which enabled 12 orchestras to show a gross surplus of $94,736. Five orchestras reported gross unfinanced deficits aggregating $67,624, and had neither a surplus nor deficit. The operational deficit per concert ranged from $419 to $2,332. The financing income was derived from contributions, special campaigns, and income from endowments. Five symphonic units had state municipal and other grants.

It was shown that the 18 orchestras during the last season, played a total of 1,479 concerts, exclusive of broadcasts, for a total of 42,700 performances and a gross attendance of 2,476,628 persons. Fifty-six concerts were for war service and pension fund benefits with an attendance of 200,425. Concerts for performances totaled 262 with attendance of 831,827. The 18 orchestras employed 1,513 musicians, of whom 210 were women. It was reported that 385 former orchestral men now are in military service.

The smallest of the orchestras has 10 players, while the largest employs 106. Minimum salaries range from $45 a week in the smallest to the minimum salary range for the entire season is from $855 to $1,255 exclusive of broadcasting and recording fees. Six of the orchestras do commercial broadcasting, nine do sustaining broadcasting with no sustaining broadcast fee. Six of the orchestras record with Victor, five with Columbia, and one with Decca. The percentage breakdown of expenses shows that 70.8 per cent. of all expenses goes for salaries—orchestra members, conductors and soloists free.

All other direct concert expenses amount to 18.9 per cent., and the average expenses of administration is 10.3 per cent. The percentage breakdown of earned income shows that 79.2 per cent. of the entire total comes from receipts of concerts at home and on tour. Broadcasting and recording fees and other earned income amounts to 31.1 per cent. of the gross, and program advertising 10.3 per cent.

Those gallant, self-sacrificing persons who sponsor musical and dramatic productions and then find they are facing a deficit, may take some comfort in New York's experience with its City Centre, where a City Symphony and a City Centre Opera company reported a combined deficit of $35,000 for the season, recently concluded. A attendance had been unusually high, and indeed capacity audiences were the rule rather than the exception. Here again it is well to know just what happens to others who are making music and entertainment and to realize that "putting on a show" or "staging a concert" does not result in handsome profits, even though the auditorium is filled.

Musical examinations were conducted during the current week and along with students freed from classes in city schools, pupils were released from musical studies and the heavy hand of examinations was lifted from their shoulders. Now teachers and pupils alike will enjoy a rest from their labors until September, and a new season arrives. For some it will be a complete rest and almost total absence from practice or teaching. For others it will mean attendance at summer schools, or special series of lessons. But it will be a needed break after a long season, an interval in which they can prepare to return with renewed vigor and interest to autumn work.

Part Eclipse To Be Visible In This City

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton residents will see a rare bonny next Monday, July 9. Part of a 30-mile path sweeping northwesterly across the sky will be visible in this city. It will witness a total eclipse of the sun. The seven other provinces will be treated to a partial black-out.

At such places as Wolsley and Redburny in Saskatchewan and Pine River in Manitoba the scientists will have their big moments during totality.

The farther west and east from the area of totality, the percentage of eclipse becomes smaller. The percentage will be 87 at Vancouver; where the sun will rise in partial eclipse, and 58 at Halifax.

The following table shows the approximate starting and finishing times of partial eclipse and percentage of totality last times Central Daylight:

Police Separate Elderly Scappers In Winnipeg Suburb

WINNIPEG, July 7.—(CP)—John Caenopolski, 80-year-old resident of North Winnipeg, Thursday night suffered a possible fracture of a backbone after a 45-year-old unnamed opponent, Chief Constable George Smith announced yesterday. Smith said a man who witnessed the battle told police the man was holding his own when police arrived to stop it.

Interviewed Friday, Caenopolski became angry when a reporter suggested he was too old for fighting.

The old man's opponent had been charged with assault causing bodily harm.

These figures of great interest and should be of considerable help to those interested in orchestras and their operations. While the set-up, operation and administration of the Edmonton Philharmonic Society is vastly different from the 18 orchestras which formed the basis of the above figures, yet it is well to keep before one the experiences of orchestras, such as the New York Philharmonic, which has weathered 100 seasons with only two interruptions.

Concerts—one with President Lincoln was shot, and the other the President's death. The programs being cancelled on those two occasions.

Those gallant, self-sacrificing persons who sponsor musical and dramatic productions and then find they are facing a deficit, may take some comfort in New York's experience with its City Centre, where a City Symphony and a City Centre Opera company reported a combined deficit of $35,000 for the season, recently concluded. ## Numerous Fires Start at Coast

VICTORIA, July 7.—(CP)—A raging fire in the lumber company timber 10 miles southwest of Ladysmith, B.C., on Vancouver Island, and a series of minor fires in Vancouver yesterday brought a warning from fire officials that the forest had reached "serious proportions." Reports from Ladysmith said a fire in the timber had spread to the lumber operations which flared up shortly after noon was raging out of control, the camp was closed down during the afternoon because of the intense heat and every available man was engaged in battling the flames.

Judge Refuses to Clear Courtroom

VANCOUVER, July 7.—(CP)—Disapproval of the practice of excluding members of the press and the public from the courtroom during the hearing of a case was expressed by Judge Bruce Boyd in court here yesterday.

During the hearing of the appeal of Walter Hull from sentence to two years for contributing to juvenile delinquency, Thomas A. Dohm, counsel, requested that the court be cleared.

He said that since the future of two 12-year-old girls, involved in the case, might be affected by facts to be brought out, he believed the hearings should be held in camera and referred to exclusion of the press from Mr. Justice A. M. Macdonald's court in Victoria during the hearing of a will case recently.

Judge Boyd refused to close the court, stating that the press and public had a right to know of the proceedings.

Need Export Permit For Lamb Shipments

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—The trade department announced yesterday that an export permit will be required immediately for all shipments of live sheep and lambs from Canada. The announcement said that resumption of meat rationing in Canada, effective shortly, made it desirable to once again make available stocks of sheep and lambs for domestic requirements by resuming export permit control on shipments consigned to any destination.

McCoy Health Service

In an amusing article which I read the other day, the organs of digestion were referred to as the "organs of indignation." That is a clever title and many of those who are conscious of digestive derangements come to believe that their digestive apparatus is busy mainly with the task of producing the symptoms of indignation.

The one having considerable digestive difficulty has a right to feel that way but the truth of the matter is that in health, one should have a very busy digestive apparatus that is never conscious that he has a stomach. He ought to be able to eat a meal and then to be comfortable afterward that he forgets entirely about having a stomach.

Wrong habits of eating are responsible for most of the digestive disorders. Some of the common causes of digestive difficulty are eating when tired or worried, eating too large a quantity of food, eating foods which are difficult to digest, eating too rapidly, not chewing food sufficiently, and the use of incorrect food combinations.

An additional cause capable of producing indigestion in those of a highly-strung type is nervous tension. Newspaper men, surgeons, actors and others leading an exciting life in which restraint is continuous, often find that they must find some way of reducing nervous tension before the digestive organs will behave.

The patient with stomach trouble usually notes one or more of the following symptoms: excessive gas, belching, rapid beating of the heart, or a feeling of fullness or pressure within the stomach. Upon pressure over the top of the stomach with the fingers, he elicits a feeling of tenderness or a sharp pain, or a feeling of bloated. Actual pain similar to this is usually absent but the general nervousness or tenderness in the top of the stomach is marked.

I do not know of a single help which will be more important to the patient with stomach trouble than right diet. His difficulties have come upon him because he has been eating incorrectly and it is only when he is willing to change his eating habits that he finally finds his feet on the road to recovery.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope or letter will be sent. Write on our side of paper only. Letters must be received by the office. Address: McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

British Election Sets Vote Record

LONDON, July 7.—(CP)—A record number of 23,000,000 votes was believed cast in Thursday's general election, surpassing the largest previous turnout of 22,448,273 in 1929. In the last general election in 1935, the turnout cast totalled 22,014,000.

The consensus was that fully 75 per cent. of 23,000,000 eligible voters were cast. Some persons are permitted by British law to vote twice, once from the residential register and once from the business register.

Whalers Resume Deep-Sea Trips

CAPTOWN, July 7.—(CP)—The first whaling vessel to leave the Antarctic since the war based operations in 1940 yesterday was headed for the United States with 142,000 barrels of whale oil. The 14,000-ton Norwegian whaler, the Johan Borge, has been at sea whaling since last October.

SEVEN Deven Income Tax Assessment Being Held Up

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—Revenue Minister Maclean said last night in a statement the income tax division of his department has stepped up assessment of income tax returns to more than 1,000 a year but still has a backlog of 9,000 returns to be assessed in addition to those made last April for the tax year 1944.

The minister said figures given in his statement were "to refute the assertion that the division is approaching a near breakdown." He said that following publication of a statistical paper a few days ago a statistical paper had described the department as "swamped" and "approaching a near breakdown." The assertion had been based on figures of more than two years ago when 88,128 taxpayers were assessed in a year.

ASSESSMENT RATE

"In the 1943 fiscal year, which ended March 31, 1943, the division assessed 128,833 taxpayers and is currently assessing at the rate of over 1,000 per year," Mr. Maclean said.

Difficulties in obtaining office space and additional staff had complicated the task of meeting an eight-fold wartime increase in taxpayers.

"It is acknowledged that there is a considerable backlog of assessing to be reduced," the statement said.

For the taxation year 1941 returns received numbered 90,454, of which 70,000 had been assessed and 10,000 listed as backlog. For 1942, 179,172 returns were received, 160,284 assessed and 18,888 as backlog and for 1943 of 210,231 returns, 131,065 were assessed and 79,166 were backlog. This made a total backlog of 90,130.

ASSESSING DELAYED

In the report previously made public the department said the fact that a large number of taxpayers had joined the forces had led to new addresses made it difficult to clarify points requiring additional information and causing assessing. Changes in the dates on which returns had to be made was another factor in completing the assessments.

"This figure constitutes half a year's work and there is of course the timing of the current returns which were lodged on April 30, but it is not considered that these returns, which have been received and payments thereon to be made as of the end of August next, are arrears of half of the year."

It came from surging throngs of men, women and children who grasped the great opportunity of welcoming returning servicemen as a unit. Thousands gathered at the Union station long before the time set for the parade of the paratroopers from the station to city hall. "We owe you a great debt of gratitude," began Mayor Robert Saunders. Nobody heard what came next for the shouting. Here the boys are seen as they march in front of station on their way to reception.

U.S. Ambassador Lays Down Law In Argentina

MONTEVIDEO, July 7.—(AP)—The U.S. ambassador in Argentina, Mr. Spruille Braden, told Argentinean correspondents that if Argentina "decided to attack the integrity of the freedom of North American correspondents it would have to abide by the consequences."

The paper, quoting a "very good source," said the "serious incident" showed Mr. Braden was acting according to extremely severe instructions, perhaps emanating from the new secretary of state, Bernard M. Baruch.

Publication of the alleged "incident" followed a series of anti-American correspondents in Argentina and assurances from the government that the correspondents would be protected.

work or constitute a backlog, the statement continued.

"In the case of corporations the current assessing is now equal to the volume of annual income, but a backlog equivalent to about one and a half years' work is estimated and there have been earlier this year towards reducing this backlog. The effect will show in the latter half of the year."

Contrary Orders Precipitate Muddle

BERLIN, July 7.—(AP)—An American officer said yesterday that "contradictory orders from 'high levels' are delaying American military government representatives from taking over control of the assigned central area of Berlin, currently occupied by Soviet forces."

The Red flag and the Stars and Stripes both fly over Schoenberg district adjacent the Tiergarten, but two Soviet lieutenants, according to the officer, are issuing orders to their appointed burgomasters, Ferdinand Grandtner, a pre-war member of the communist party.

Col. John J. Maginnis, Western Front, received instructions to become the military officer in charge of the city from two nights ago. His detachment occupied offices in the bomb-damaged Rathaus Thursday, but moved yesterday to a nearby apartment building.

My Soviet officer number told me he had been ordered not to withdraw from Schoenberg," Col. Maginnis said. "I told him I had been ordered to come in. We have established most friendly relations between us while waiting for higher levels to clear up the matter."

Big Prize Court Was in Operation At Bermuda Port

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 7.—(CP)—The largest prize court in the British Empire, aside from that in England itself, operated in Bermuda during the European war years. Sir Roger Hall disclosed yesterday. Sir Roger, former chief justice of Uganda and the Federal Malay States, came here in 1940 to set up the prize court which operated as an important unit of Britain's economic blockade of the Axis.

The blockade began in September, 1939, when the British Empire's prize court organization was set up here to examine cargoes and passengers of ships plying between the United States and Portugal. Large warehouses were jammed with confiscated exports and contraband which included 131,000 mail packets, stamps, securities and currencies taken from passengers.

Top-Flight Spy For I.G. Farben In U.S. Hands

By DON WHITEHEAD
HOECHST, Germany, July 7.—(AP)—The man who headed the espionage activities of the great I.G. Farben industrial group in military custody yesterday as the United States army completed seizure of the management, assets and plants of the organization in the American zone of occupied Germany.

Records of the United States group control council listed him as Dr. Max Huger, 47, an ardent Nazi. Huger and Dr. Herman Schnitz, principal director of Farbenindustrie, were held in Frankfurt for questioning about the intricate affairs of the industry whose war-making powers the American group has branded as a "major threat to the peace and the security of the post-war world."

Dr. Huger was the head of Farbenindustrie's central financial administration known as ZEFI, which handled the industry's financial transactions and controlled its foreign currency credits.

"As head of ZEFI, Huger procured foreign currency credits which the Reich required in its dealings throughout the world," said Col. Edwin S. Pillsbury, Berkeley, Calif., who directed the seizure of the 24 Farben plants in the American zone late yesterday.

Col. Pillsbury said that his office had information showing that Farbenindustrie, through Huger, had carried on industrial espionage throughout the world and that Huger himself was one of the most active agents.

The town hurried to their barracks, and then fired in the townships with rifles, grenades and mortars, the reports said, and natives returned the fire.

British patrols took over the sea coast town at night, and still were patrolling Friday night.

The British communique said 10 persons were killed and 45 wounded, including three French soldiers killed and eight wounded. The French communique said three soldiers and 20 civilians were killed and "some" soldiers wounded.

Both reports said three French soldiers were stabbed to death in isolated fights. Some soldiers in

To Ask Withdrawal AF of L Charters

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said last night that the action of the American Federation of Labor in recommending that charters be withdrawn from affiliated Trades and Labor Councils in Canada was being considered by the T.C.C. at the request of the T.C.C. to end duplication of charters in Canada.

He said that some 300 council charters in Canada, eight hundred charters both with the T.C.C. and the A.F. of L.

Commenting on the fact that the Montreal Trades and Labor Council would be left without a charter if the A.F. of L. recommendation was carried out, Mr. Bengough said it had been suggested from the T.C.C. about two months ago for not coming up to the constitution of the Dominion body.

Canadians Run Up 16-2 Count Against South Side Club

With a total of 12 hits and Wagner, P. 1 0 0 0 2 0

While the boys from across the river booted the ball around doing damage to themselves, the Canucks played heads up ball with only a couple of miscues charged against them. Three of the snappiest catches seen at the east end ball yard this year were turned in, two of them by Don

The first fielding gem pulled off by Metherell was in the third frame when he took Ellis's hard drive that looked like it was labelled for a certain safe bingo by diving 10 feet along the ground to his left and came up with the pill with one Model-T race committee Wednesday night defeated Joe McKennie's Get-out-the-Vote committee in a Junior Chamber of Commerce softball game at the Victoria high school diamond. The game replaced the general dinner meeting usually held and ended up with the final score 18-14.

Then again in the sixth he cheated Langer out of a hit by taking a drive over towards third, making a spectacular backhand swipe at the ball, and doubling Gilchrist off first, who was more than half way down to second at the time. Price's great catch came in the fifth when he ran into the rightfield behind

Although taking a bad drubbing the South Side crew never gave up fighting and several times had men left on the basepaths but were unable to bring them around, except on a couple of occasions in the eighth, when they finally broke into the scoring column with their pair of runs.

Metheral of the winners and Langner of losers were the big

Mothers Want Daughter To Marry, But Not Son

Parents Always Eager to See Girls Get Married But Are Not so Happy About Men of Family Running Off to Take Vows

One of the queer things in the human relationship is that mothers are so anxious to get their daughter married off and so averse to having their sons marry. Of course there are exceptions to all rules and there is an occasional parent whose daughter for wants to keep her maidenhead and will not marry. But for the most part, mothers are anxious to see their daughters get married and their sons get married. Mothers are anxious to see their daughters get married and their sons get married. Mothers are anxious to see their daughters get married and their sons get married.

At a wedding it is never a trouble to tell which is the bride's family and which is the bridegroom's family. The one is usually the bride's family. The other is the bridegroom's family. The one is usually the bride's family. The other is the bridegroom's family. The one is usually the bride's family. The other is the bridegroom's family.

Nature in the way of the daughters were a little bit of an asset. It was rather, for their mothers to be anxious to see their daughters get married and their sons get married. Mothers are anxious to see their daughters get married and their sons get married.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER FLOREN

The husband of a parent is to love the child in front of him as he is to a temper tantrum, even if he has to be punished severely to accomplish this.

This does not seem to be the wisest course, in such an emotional over the child would be better to calm down of his own accord, either because he has worn himself out or has come to see the error of his behavior. It is the parent duty to study the child's environment and treatment so that they can put an end to the approximations which are driving him to tantrums.

Mrs. M. D. is already doing the work of her husband's part of speaking the child when he has tantrums. She is not a mother who is to throw himself on the floor when he is angry or when he is angry. She is not a mother who is to throw himself on the floor when he is angry or when he is angry. She is not a mother who is to throw himself on the floor when he is angry or when he is angry.

Prune And Stake Tomatoes For Yield In Small Area

To Prune Tomatoes, All Except Selected Side Shoots Must Be Removed.

The largest yield of tomatoes from a given area of soil can be obtained by staking plants, a foot apart and pruning them to a single stem. This has been shown by experiments in market gardens near Boston where early tomatoes are grown on trellises, or stakes. When pruned to a single stem the plants are set twelve inches apart, when pruned to two stems they are placed 21 inches apart, and tests have shown that the single stem plants give earlier fruit and a heavier total yield.

The tomato plant naturally starts with one central shoot or leader. As soon as the first blossoms have appeared, at each joint made by a leaf with the stem, a branch begins to grow. If these are allowed to develop, the typical sprawling tomato bush will result.

To prune the plant, the side shoots or branches are removed before they are four inches long; if left to grow longer, the vigor of the plant is reduced. If the plant is to be pruned to two stems, the central stem and one side shoot are allowed to grow, all others being removed. The side shoot chosen to survive should not be more than 10 inches from the ground. All side shoots are removed to make a single stem plant. Pruning must be done weekly.

Single stem plants can be supported by a strong cord stretched from a tall support of any kind to an anchor on the ground near the plant. Pruning must be done weekly.

Peas, Beans And Lupins Helped By Inoculant

Peas, beans and lupins belong to a family of plants known as legumes. They have the attribute of taking nitrogen from the air and secreting it in the roots in little sandy earth when the plant is pulled up. These are usually referred to as nodules.

A special form of bacteria performs the work for the legumes of taking the nitrogen from the air. In some soil these bacteria are almost or deficient and it is necessary to inoculate it with a culture rich in them. To accomplish this, the seed is treated before sowing. To gain the maximum yield from peas, beans and other legumes, particularly in large plantings, the seed may be inoculated with nitrogen culture now commercially available and sold by all seed houses, the cans containing complete directions for its use. The various legumes require different cultures, clovers and alfalfa being legumes as well as peas and beans. It would be an interesting experiment for the home gardener to plant a row of inoculated beans and another row which has not had the nitrogen inoculation and note the difference in the vigor and growth of the two rows and the difference in the crops harvested from the treated and untreated rows. While the nitrogen inoculation is not necessary for the production of good crops if the soil is fertile and well worked, it is a guarantee of good crops. If peas and beans have been grown in the soil in years past it is already inoculated with the bacteria, and the inoculation is less needed. In soil in which these crops have not been previously grown, it is an excellent idea to try it. A can of the culture costs only a few cents and the operation is simple, requiring no technical knowledge.

Mayors' Delegation Will Talk Housing At Ottawa Meeting

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—A special housing committee of nine Canadian mayors is scheduled to meet with finance minister Henry Monday to discuss the housing problems across Canada which have been acutely sharpened by the great number of veterans returning from overseas.

The mayors, named by the Canadian Federation of Mayors, include Stanley Lewis, Ottawa; Camille Houde, Montreal; J. Corbett, Vancouver; R. W. Saunders, Toronto; G. Coulter, Winnipeg; R. Forbes, Fredericton; N. L. Borne, Quebec; W. F. Fyfe, Edmonton and T. Wilson, Verdun, Que.

It is expected that the Monday conference will produce an important announcement of federal assistance in Canada's housing problem.

Fuel Shortage Will Be Acute In East Canada

OTTAWA, July 7.—(CP)—The fuel shortage which Canada faces this winter is going to be most acute in Ontario and Quebec, the municipal government said yesterday in a review of the coal outlook. In western Canada, presuming western mines work at capacity throughout the summer and consumers take delivery of coal as it becomes available, sufficient coal is expected to be provided for all homes.

Ontario and Quebec, with no coal mines, consume about half of the Dominion's total supply and have to rely mainly on the United States and Britain as coal sources. Bailouts were introduced in 1922.

Expansion Seen In Uses of Hot Water in Homes

Hot water demands for hot water will increase sharply and the house builder or planner would be wise to consider this when itemizing his requirements.

Many Canadian homes today lack the facilities in bathrooms and kitchens that the modern pattern of living requires. And as the life of such equipment is on the whole much longer than other household facilities, the result has been that these departments are outmoded in many homes today. This "backlog" of old-fashioned equipment, plus the demand for new planning, will bring the use of water in the post war home to a new high level and will affect, not only the piping but also the means of producing plentiful hot water.

This hot water may be heated directly or indirectly. Direct heaters are fired with oil or coal—everywhere and with gas and electricity in districts where these fuels may be obtained at competitive prices. Indirect water heaters operate in connection with steam or hot water boilers. Of these latter, there are two main types—the "tank" variety and the tankless.

Each household requires a different measurement to determine the quantity of hot water needed and the type of equipment to produce it. Requirements are dependent on the size of the house, the number of persons in the household, the standard of living of the community, and the standing of the family in the community. Before settling this important problem, it is better to consult

Will Hold Reunion

A reunion of present and former members of the 14th Calgary Tank Brigade, active and reserve, will be held at the Canadian Legion Memorial Hall, Calgary, on Tuesday, July 10, starting at 7:30 p.m. The affair will take the form of a reception and smoker and it will give members of the unit who have returned from overseas, and who were with the tanks previous to the war, a welcome home. It is proposed to hold another reunion when the active unit returns from overseas.

The Reserve Army regiment will be in camp at Sarcee and arrangements are being made to transport them to the city for the function.

Brigadier P. M. W. Harvey, VC, MC, district officer commanding, and Major Andrew Davison have accepted invitations to attend the function along with former officers commanding the regiment—Lt.-Col. P. L. Shoultice, MC; Lt.-Col. D. G. Cunningham, MC; ED, Colonel E. R. Knight, VD; Lt.-Col. L. A. Cranahan and Lt.-Col. W. K. Jull, MC, VD, the present officer commanding.

The only commanding officer of the active unit who will be able to attend the function will be Lt.-Col. John Begg, DSO, who returned from overseas about a year ago. Lt.-Col. Begg took command of the overseas unit shortly after the war.

Dr. Grueter is well acquainted with the work of the Lutheran Church and many will want to hear his message. The public is cordially invited.

Sessions will begin at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Concordia College, 7th St. W. C. Elford, of Leduc, president of the Alberta and British Columbia district, will serve as chairman.

Need to Maintain

High Farm Income

Theme of Exhibit

Need for maintaining prairie farm income to raise the standard of living in prairie farm homes is the theme of the Dominion department of agriculture exhibit to be seen at the Edmonton Fair which opens July 16. Designer of the exhibit is P. C. Nunmick, the department's director of publicity and extension.

Mr. Nunmick says that prairie farm income is about four times as great as before the war and suggests that this improvement is due largely to more diversified farming.

The department exhibit also features colorful models and photographs illustrating more careful shearing and mow preparation of wool, and the prevention of waste by home canning of fruits and vegetables.

LONDON.—(CP)—The fuel ministry has been advised in a report from the Kent Coalfield Survey that more than 1,000,000 tons of iron ore a year could be produced in Kent during the next century but special blast furnaces would be needed.

GERMAN BANNER PRESENTED TO RCAF SERVICE POLICE CHIEF

A German banner bearing the German eagle surmounting a swastika has been received by Group Captain M. M. Sisley, AFC, Provost Marshal of the RCAF, a present from Flight-Lt. M. M. Carmichael, Deputy Assistant Provost Marshal with the 2nd Tactical Air Force in Europe. Carmichael became the first Canadian to set foot in Berlin after the German capitulation when on May 6 he was assigned the duty of escorting three high ranking German officers to Berlin for the signing of the peace pact there. Carmichael and the three Germans, Field Marshal Von Keitel, Admiral Von Friedeburg and General Stumpff flew back from Rheims, and Carmichael was the first of the party to alight from the aircraft, thus becoming the first Canadian to set foot in the German capital. The banner, displayed by G. Sisley and Corporal Lynn Anderson, Camrose, Alberta, is scarlet with a black and white design of a scrawny quizzical looking eagle and perched with spread wings on a swastika bordered with heavy gold fringe, was formerly hanging in the office of Carmichael's high-ranking charges. In ink he has written in the lower right hand corner these words: "To G.C.M. M. Sisley, PM, RCAF from F.L. M. M. Carmichael, DAFM, 2nd TAF, first Canadian to set foot in Berlin, May 6, '45." Group Captain Sisley is hanging the banner in his home at 231 Lonsdale Drive, Toronto. Flight Lieutenant Carmichael, whose home is in Braselme and Armprion, Ont., is a veteran of the RCMP with whom he served as a horseman and instructor for several years prior to his enlistment in the RCAF in May, 1941. He has travelled through Europe, South America, and numerous other countries with the RCMP Horse Show. He was posted overseas in 1944, and has been active in constabulary duties with the RCAF in the 2nd Tactical Air Force over there.

Served With the Loyal Edmonton Regiment Veteran Urges Comrades Exercise Care In Starting on Rehabilitation Career

Readjustment and rehabilitation are of paramount importance in the lives of the thousands of rapidly returning service men. Often the troops have "prouder" and complacent attitudes for what they should have done, but left undisturbed. In this article, the Edmonton Bulletin's series dealing with rehabilitation, a serviceman tells of the help he received from official sources to break on career, and more economical, road to rehabilitation.—EDITOR.

BY LESTER EICH

Discharged servicemen considering business deals should take full advantage of the services available to them through the department of veterans' affairs before entering into any agreements. This advice was given by Fred Cowden, a former member of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, who, after almost five years' overseas service, has re-established himself in civilian life as the operator of a billiard hall.

"Servicemen are foolish to invest their gratuities and credits in a business venture without first having it fully investigated, and that is one service the department of veterans' affairs offers. The officials really do a thorough job of it and a man can feel assured that their advice is sound," he said.

A firm believer in "a happy man is a busy man," the veteran warned against the "blues" and "downs" which would result from "something available to turn up."

UNSETTLED

"It's only natural that a man should feel restless and unsettled when he first gets out of the service. There are many things about the life that you miss, especially the association of the comrades of your outfit. The best cure I've found is to get busy as soon as possible and you soon get back into the old swing of things."

Another thing about an idle, holiday mood, the ex-serviceman said is that it often endures for months and is a terrific drain on finances.

"Too many of the fellows who are getting out of the service and who have good intentions about going into business for themselves, are doing something concrete with their money, can't seem to make up their minds about what they want to do. The first thing they know their money is gone and they have nothing to show for it."

BUYS BUSINESS

A barber in Edmonton before enlisting in September, 1930, Mr. Cowden recently purchased the New Majestic Billiard hall and barber shop at 9645 Jasper avenue and is busy with plans for some changes which he hopes to make in the near future.

MORE DIFFICULTY

The owner, who is a married man, believes that single men have more difficulty in settling down.

"I've had one responsibility, and when they get their gratuity cheque it probably looks like a lot of money and some of them seem to think it will last them a long time. You can't blame them for wanting to have some fun but they eventually are a lot sadder to find their money is something substantial and then in a few years they could probably afford to take a good holiday with something back of them."

Going overseas in December, 1939, Mr. Cowden served with his regiment until 1942 when he received a broken leg in an accident. He remained in England when the unit left for Europe and said he was "really disgusted" to have missed seeing action.

When he was discharged from hospital he was in a holding unit for a while and then was transferred to the first field casualty clearing station. The unit was stationed on the south coast of England receiving wounded who were being returned from the Normandy invasion beaches.

In October, 1944, he returned to Canada conducting wounded troops and in February this year he received his final discharge papers.

PRIVATE BREGER ARROUD—He volunteered for a transfusion, all the time thinking he was GETTING it, instead of GIVING it!

FORMER SOLDIER OPERATES OWN BUSINESS—Fred Cowden, a former member of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, who finds that operating his own business is a great cure for the restless feeling that disturbs so many ex-servicemen when they return to civilian life. After almost five years overseas he received his discharge in February this year and last month purchased the New Majestic Billiard Hall, 9645 Jasper Avenue. His wife's nephew, Dan Bakkie, formerly owner of the Log Cabin Liquor Shop, is his partner in the venture.

Final Preparations Being Made For Revival Of Summer Fair

No effort is being spared to make the revival of the Edmonton Exhibition Association's summer fair the most successful in its long history.

Cancelled for several years because the exhibition grounds were in use as a training depot for the Royal Canadian Air Force, the fair, scheduled for July 16 to 21 inclusive, is planned to be the best yet. Charles E. Wilson, managing director, stated Saturday.

NUMEROUS ENTRIES

Entries in the livestock events are more numerous than in the 1942 show, and the local and provincial exhibitors will be up against stiff outside competition. Exhibitors from Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia have entered stock in the cattle and horse classes. The cream of Alberta's livestock will be on view.

RACING SCHEDULE

There will be six days of racing and it is expected that approximately 300 horses will be stabled at the track, insuring well-filled races for the seven daily races. Some of the best western-bred thoroughbreds will match strides with horses that made names for themselves on the Mexican and American tracks during the winter months. The class of horses is well above the average of previous years.

There will be no shortage of jockeys. Besides the leading riders who performed on the western circuit at Calgary and Winnipeg, four or five jockeys who have been riding with good success in Cuba and Mexico will be on hand to take mounts.

On Monday and Saturday evening immediately prior to the opening of the grandstand show.

Oil Development Plan Approved By Government

An order-in-council has been passed approving an agreement between the provincial government and the Shell Oil Company of Canada Ltd. under the terms of which the company will possibly drill 225 wells in the Jumping Pound district, southwest of Calgary.

A total of 18,832 acres, to be developed by the company in the Jumping Pound district, is covered under the agreement. The province has leased 2,450 acres to the company which is reported to control the leases on the balance of acreage according to government officials.

Negotiations for the agreement were conducted by the Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines.

The agreement, which is the first of its kind to operate in Alberta, is a unitization scheme under which all lease holders pool their interest for the purpose of sharing on the basis of the extent of their holdings, in royalties resulting from oil development.

In this case the province would share largely in royalties, holding almost 50 per cent of the total acreage involved in the agreement.

The agreement requires the company to maintain continuous drilling of exploratory wells and if oil is found in any of these exploratory wells the company must start a development program and continue this work.

They provide for royalties to be paid on a sliding scale, ranging from a minimum of 5 per cent to a maximum of 15 per cent, or an alternative of a straight 12½ per cent. Choice of one or the other of the two royalty plans has to be made within 30 days after a well has been brought in as a producing well.

In the morning a number of the Teenie Weenies went after the pipe tee. After they had tied it to a long twig, four of the strongest men carried it along the steep bank of the creek. It was a very hot day and the little chaps found that carrying a one-inch pipe tee is a mighty heavy load, but finally they brought it to the Teenie Weenie workshop. The Turk soon put in a grate and then set it up in the laundry. Now the Chinaman is happy again and he is singing as he launders the Teenie Weenie clothes.
